Registration / Packing

What are the dates of operation for Summer 2023?

- Rancho: June 30 - Aug 6, 2023
- Barker: June 30 - Aug 6, 2023
- Albuquerque: June 19 - July 21, 2023

What paperwork is required for camp?

All paperwork is available online and must be turned in using your registration log in on the camp portal. Paperwork will become available after you've completed registering someone. Once paperwork has been completed you can go in and update it or use it for future registrations. After logging in to your registration portal you will be able to see what pieces of paperwork are required, if they've been submitted, and when they're due.

All paperwork must be received at least three weeks prior to your camper's program. We will not be accepting paper forms for summer 2023.

How do I reserve my spot at camp?

To hold your spot in a particular session or sessions, prior to official registration, you will use the Reservation JotForm associated with the type of camp you're looking for (Overnight, Day, Troop/Family). You will be charged your $50 deposit for each session you reserve. That $50 will be automatically applied to your registration when it opens at the end of February. Keep an eye out for an email to complete your registration and payment at that time!

What details about deposits and final payments should I know?

All camps (Day, Overnight, Troop, Family) require a non-fundable, non-transferable $50 deposit (administrative fee). Payment plans are available for all camps, but you must be paid in full no later than three (3) weeks prior to the start of the selected camp session. At that time, all unpaid spots will be opened to wait-listed campers. Starting June 1, all registrations will require a deposit equal to 50% of the program fee for each session you are registering for (Day, Overnight, Troop, or Family). The balance must be paid in full no later than 3 weeks before the start of your session(s).

What are the Early Bird incentives and deadlines?

Campers that register by the noted Early Bird deadlines will receive the indicated incentives (see page). Troop and Family camp are not eligible for Early Bird incentives. You may use program credits, Opportunity Fund, Troop Funds, or Juliette funds towards Troop and Family Camps.

| April 1, 2023 | FREE Camp T-shirt and $10 Trading Post Credit |
| May 1, 2023 | FREE Camp T-shirt |

Camp t-shirts are white on white for tie dye. Additional shirts will be available for purchase through La Tienda in Albuquerque or Camp Trading Post at Rancho del Chaparral or Elliott Barker.

The $50 off incentive cannot be applied to your deposit. Deposits must be paid by card.

Early Bird incentives are not applicable to Troop or Family camps.

Is there a bus or carpool for camp?

Yes! We will have transportation to Rancho on Sundays and Fridays with stops in Albuquerque, Bernalillo, and Cuba, NM. There will be no transportation to Elliott Barker for family or troop camps, Elliott Barker Day Camp, or Do-si-dos Day Camp in Albuquerque. Plan to arrive at least 10 minutes prior to the listed "Arrive Time" in case there is traffic.

At minimum, one camp staff person must always be with the campers (staff provided by camp).

What are check in / check out times?

Check In / Out times will be included in your Camper Guide. We keep this information to registered participants only for the camper's safety. Please do not share driving directions/times with anyone that will not be responsible for the physical pick up / drop off of a camper.

My camper is nonbinary, can they attend camp?

Yes! All Girl Scouts are welcome at camp, this is not dependent on their gender identity or sexual orientation (or religion, or culture, or anything else). If you or your Girl Scout need special accommodations for changing or showers, please let the Camp Director know. While these are not topics that staff will discuss in depth with campers (to respect caregivers that are not ready for their camper to hear about them) we will respect everyone's pronouns at camp. All aspects of Girl Scouts are safe spaces.

Do all campers need a bathing suit?

If your camper is attending Camp Elliott Barker, we suggest they bring a bathing suit or set of clothes for water activities just in case. All campers will have the option of potentially going swimming or canoeing even if that isn't the focus of their program. Bathing suits should be appropriate for active water play (jumping of the dock, splashing, climbing, falling off the kayaks, etc). If your camper doesn't have an active swimsuit or isn't comfortable in one – athletic shorts and a t-shirt or tank top work great! Campers attending Rancho del Chaparral should have a pair of water shoes (old sneakers or athletic sandals, etc) for stream stomping, but we don't have a pond there (yet!).

What vaccinations/medical paperwork is required for camp?

Every camper, staff member, or volunteer is required to provide a completed Health History Form via the online registration portal. This form is provided as part of the camp paperwork. A medical physical from a licensed medical practitioner is suggested but not required. Proof of current vaccinations must be included with the Health History Form.

Girl Scouts of New Mexico Trails requires the same vaccines as New Mexico Public Schools. For Covid we are following CDC guidelines and best practices.

Property

What are sleeping areas like at camp (Rancho and Barker)?

We have different sleeping areas at the two camp properties outside of Albuquerque (mostly platform tents that sleep four (4), a few enclosed cabins at Elliott Barker, and some open air "cabins" [hogans and adirondacks] at Rancho del Chaparral -- these sleep 6 - 8 each) - youth stay with other youth and the counselors stay in their own tent/cabin near them in the same unit. Beds are either cots with mattress or bunk beds with mattresses.

How do sleeping areas work at family camp?

For family camps, families stay in a tent/cabin together next to other families. If families are coming "together" with other families they'll be housed near/with each other but they have to register together.

How do sleeping areas work at troop camp?

For troop camps, troops will be assigned the number of cabins or tents that they purchased through registration. It is up to the troops how they would like to divide their group for sleeping. Per GSUSA Safety Activity Checkpoints men are required to sleep in separate quarters from youth Girl Scouts. Please plan accordingly.

Volunteers

At which property can I volunteer for a discount?

Only Rancho del Chaparral is accepting adult volunteers in order to receive a discount to a camper's program fee.

Do I have to be related to the camper to help them get a discount?

Yes, you must be the family or direct caretaker to the camper for whom you wish to volunteer in exchange for a discount on their camp program.

What are the requirements to be a volunteer?

You must be 18+, a member of Girl Scouts of New Mexico Trails, have a current background check on file, possess CPR/First Aid (and provide proof of certification), and complete an online training course on gsLearn by mid-June.

How will we receive our discount?

Discounts will be applied, back end, prior to the camper attending camp. If a volunteer does not follow through on volunteering they will be invoiced to recover the amount owed.

General Camp Procedures

What will meals at Rancho and Barker look like?

Meals are served in our dining halls. Depending on the total group size meals will be served cafeteria (campers lined up and served by kitchen staff) or family-style (meals placed in communal dishes and placed on tables by campers). Outdoor cooking meals happen once a week for all Rancho groups (except weekend campers); campers should bring a mess kit to use at these meals. A mess kit is a plastic (or metal) plate, bowl, cup, and set of silverware in a drawstring or extra-large Ziploc bag. You can purchase a mess kit at the Girl Scout store or assemble one from items at home.

Why do you say “Grace” at every meal?

We sing a “Mealtime Melody” (which used to be called grace but the name changed several years ago) before every meal as a part of our Girl Scout Traditions. While some of the songs do state “God” or “Lord” campers are encouraged to omit that if it doesn’t align with their beliefs, replace it with the name in alignment with their religion, or to thank nature/earth/the camp cooks for providing the food. Girl Scouts is non-denominational but several of our historical camp songs are adapted from different religions.

My camper has a food allergy or restriction, can you accommodate them?

At camp, we’re dedicated to providing nutritious meals for all of our campers. We are able to meet the majority of common restrictions/allergies but do require prior notification. You will be asked to share this information on the registration form.

We are prepared to accommodate the following with advanced notice:

- Gluten free and/or
- Vegetarian
- Vegan
- No pork or red meat
- No eggs or chicken
- Dairy free or dairy light
- Peanut or other nut allergies
- Diabetic diets

Food preferences for picky eaters cannot be accommodated but a “safe food” option of a peanut butter (+/- jelly or honey) sandwich and a salad bar, with protein options, are available at most meals.

Can my camper earn a badge for a camp they attend that doesn’t match their Girl Scout level?

Unfortunately, no, Girl Scouts can only earn (and place on their vests) the badges meant for their level. Because our camps cross level lines we try to offer multiple badges per camp so that all Girl Scouts who attend that program can earn a badge specific to their level.

What will the group sizes look like?

Group sizes will still be limited, it will be based on program activities and the age level of the Girl Scouts. Younger groups will have lower minimums to allow staff to give them more one-on-one guidance. Horse camps will be limited to eight (8) participants.

What is bullying and how does camp handle bullying?

Bullying is repeated unwanted behaviors, or behaviors that may become repeated, that cause harm to another individual. Behaviors can be verbal (teasing, name calling, inappropriate comments, etc), social (excluding, spreading rumors, etc), or physical (bumping, pushing, hitting, tripping, stealing, etc).

Girl Scouts of New Mexico Trails has a zero-tolerance policy for bullying in all programming. Depending on the severity of the instance (accidental, violent, repeated, etc) the consequences will range from a sit-down talk with administrative staff, a call home to caregivers, suspension from specialized activities, being sent home, or a decision reached specific to the situation in a conversation between administrative staff, the camper, and their caregiver.

What are situations that might occur where I should expect to receive a call from camp?

We do our best to not call home and will only do so in serious circumstances. A call home does not always mean that the camper needs to be picked up early, occasionally we just need more insight into the camper's behavior and to talk through how the behavior is worked through at home. If any of the following happens, a member of the administrative team or the Health Supervisor will call and inform you:

- Camper is ill and in the care of the nurse for more than 6 hours.
- Camper is injured in a way that inhibits movement (ankle, knee, shoulder injuries) but does not require a trip to the hospital (sprain, strain).
- Camper is experiencing extreme homesickness that is impacting their time at camp and cannot be resolved with ordinary methods.
- Camper runs away (this includes leaving the group, to spend time on their own, without telling their counselor where they're going – campers may not wander camp on their own and must be with a buddy and a staff member at all times).
- Camper does not follow the Code of Conduct.
- Camper needs to go home for any reason (illness, behavior, etc).
- Camp staff need help with camper behavior they're not used to (occasionally in the case of homesickness campers will act out, we'll call and explain what happened, ask if it's normal, and how you approach it at home).

What is the policy on sending camper's home?

While we do our best at camp to make sure that all camper's complete the full time that they've registered for there are instances that require caregivers to immediately pick up their camper – for the safety of the camper and others at camp.

For most behavior situations we abide by a "Three Strike Rule" where the camper is warned at least three times, verbally and then documented in writing, before receiving the consequence of being sent home. Behaviors that fall under the Three Strike Policy are any non-physically violent behavior such as: teasing, extreme homesickness (not able to participate in activities due to homesickness episodes, making themselves sick to the point of extended time in the infirmary, etc), graffiti of camp property, stealing, lying, and other behavior that does not align with the signed Code of Conduct.

There are behaviors that fall outside of the Three Strike Rule because they immediately impact the mental, emotional, or physical safety of other campers, staff, or the camper themselves. These behaviors include, but are not limited to: threats of physical violence, perpetuating physical violence (this includes any form of assault which can be as minor as cutting another camper's hair without their permission), bullying, destruction (beyond pen and ink graffiti) of camper property or another person's belongings, running away, possession of contraband at camp (alcohol, drugs not prescribed to them, illegal drugs, tobacco products, marijuana products that are not prescribed by a physician, knives not considered pocket knives, firearms, etc), sexual harassment, and other circumstances as evaluated by the Camp Administrative Team or Ranger.

If a camper (adult or youth) is deemed to be having a behavior issue a camp staff member will complete and submit a "Behavior Report" form for filing in the office and attachment to the camper's Salesforce Profile. These forms will detail the behavior, any discussion around the behavior, list mediation steps for stopping the behavior, and consequences if the behavior is not remedied.

- Youth campers attending overnight camps that are sent home must be picked up within 12 hours of contact with the caregiver.
- Youth campers attending Day Camp and are being sent home they must be picked up within 1 hour of contact with the caregiver.
- Adult campers, attending any camp program, or caregivers/family members at check in/out must remove themselves from camp property within 30 minutes of the decision being communicated to them by Girl Scouts of New Mexico Trails staff (or as soon as their belongings are packed for transportation).
- In severe circumstances, campers (adult or youth) or visitors will be removed immediately and their belongings will be packed by camp staff and returned as soon as possible.

Camp will not provide a pro-rated refund, as stated in our Cancellations & Refunds policies, for campers that are sent home because of behavior, including homesickness.

Can me or my camper lose their privilege to attend camp?

Yes and no. We will not rescind anyone's ability to attend camp without a valid reason and our first step is a mediation plan where the camper is still allowed to attend camp but with specific restrictions on the type of camp that they're allowed to attend. Camp is a place for people to grow and learn new skills – both hard skills for enjoying the outdoors and soft skills for maintaining appropriate relationships with people in their lives.

If the camper has previously been sent home from camp for any reason, other than illness, we reserve the right to put a restriction on their attendance for their safety and the safety of others until the individual shows that they have matured beyond past behavior.

If the camper has:

1. Been sent home as the result of an immediate violation of camp policies (anything that falls outside the listed Three Strike Rule above), they are not allowed to attend camp by themselves (Overnight or Day camp) until they've attend at minimum two (2) troop or family camp weekends with a caregiver and shown an improvement in the past behavior as noted in writing by Girl Scouts of New Mexico Trails staff.
2. Been sent home as a result of the Three Strike Rule they are not allowed to attend Overnight Camp by themselves until they've attend at minimum one (1) troop or family camp weekend with a caregiver OR one

(1) week of Day Camp, and shown an improvement in the past behavior as noted in writing by Girl Scouts of New Mexico Trails staff.

If an adult camper, visitor, or family member is removed from camp from violating any policy this will be taken on a case by case basis dependent on the severity of the violation. It is possible that an adult may lose access to camp property (including the Albuquerque Council Offices) if they are violent, a repeat offender breaking Girl Scouts of New Mexico Trails policies, or there is a court documented order that prevents them from being in close contact with a camper, staff person, another adult, or other children.

All court documents must be provided to Council via email and/or the camp registration portal for us to uphold them. We cannot, legally, enforce court documents if we (Girl Scouts of New Mexico Trails) are not made aware of them and they are not provided to us. If you are emailing them, send them to customercare@nmgirlscouts.org so they can be attached to the specified campers online Salesforce profile.

Can I call my camper while they're at camp?

No, we do not allow campers to receive or make phone calls from camp unless it's an emergency. CITs/WITs are allowed to have their phones to use on breaks but may not have them out and in use around other campers.

Is there Wifi at camp campers can use?

No, wifi is not available for camper use. This goes for both adult and youth campers. If you are at a weekend camp and need to contact home there is cell phone service at Camp Elliott Barker and a landline you can request at Rancho del Chaparral in the office.

Is there anything my camper CAN'T bring?

Yes! Do not send your camper with electronic devices (unless used as an accommodation for any conditions they have – please make sure to note this on their medical or Get to Know Your Camper forms), Girl Scout uniforms (vests/sashes, we don't want them to get dirty or lost), flip-flops or similar sandals, medications not prescribed to them, sodas, or weapons. Weapons and drugs, in general, are not allowed inside the council building (including with a legal concealed carry permit). Alcohol and marijuana products are not allowed on camp at any time. Tobacco products (smoking, vaping, chew) are only allowed for those over the legal age (21) and must be used only in designated areas away from youth campers. This applies to all camps (Day, Overnight, Troop, Family).

What happens if my camper or myself is found to be in possession of contraband?

If a minor is found in possession of contraband, the item(s) will be taken from them by an Administrative Team member and their guardian will be informed. If an adult camper is found in accidental possession of contraband, we will request that they secure the item(s) if their vehicle (an extension of your home in the state of New Mexico). If they are consuming the item, it will be taken from them, and they will only be able to get it back through a request to the Council Office in Albuquerque (it will be removed from camp property). If the camper (adult or youth) refuses to relinquish the contraband item, they will be removed from camp property.

Day Camp Specific

What ages can attend Day Camp?

We offer programming at the Albuquerque Council offices and the Elliott Barker property for Kindergarten – 5th grade. There are leadership opportunities (Program Aides) available for 6th – 9th grade Girl Scouts working on their Program Aide award or looking for general service hours during the summer. Leadership programs for older Girl Scouts (9th – 12th grade) will be available at Rancho del Chaparral and will run approximately four (4) weeks in length with one (1) break in between, and one (1) break before the last session of camp at Rancho. See “What does Leadership Camp entail” for more details.

What is the registration deadline?

The deadline to register for Day Camp or Program Aide is three (3) weeks prior to the start date of the session. This is an automated deadline?

How many campers will be at each week of Day Camp?

Each week of Day Camp is capped at 25 campers and four (4) Program Aides. Campers will participate in whole group activities and as smaller, split groups.

How long does Day Camp run?

Do-si-dos Day Camp (Albuquerque): Programming runs from 9:00 am – 4:30 pm (Monday through Friday) with a break around noon (12:00 pm) for lunch and a little quiet time. Check in is from 9:00 am – 9:30 am and check out is from 4:00 pm – 4:30 pm. Before Care and After Care are available for an additional $25 each for caregivers that need early drop off or late pick up. Payment is required prior to use of Before Care/After Care.

Elliott Barker Day Camp (Angel Fire): Programming runs from 9:00 am – 4:30 pm (Monday through Thursday) with a break around noon (12:00 pm) for lunch and a little quiet time. Check in is from 9:00 am – 9:30 am and check out is from 4:00 pm – 4:30 pm.

What is before care/after care?

This is early check in or late pick up to help caregivers have a little more time for work, etc. During this time campers will have adult supervision and quiet activities. Before care check in is from 7:30 am – 9:00 am. After care is from 4:00 pm – 5:30 pm. Campers cannot be dropped off before 7:30 am or picked up after 5:30 pm. Payment is required prior to use of Before Care/After Care.

What are some more details on snack?

Afternoon snack is provided around 3:00 pm; families are welcome to send an AM snack in their camper’s lunchbox; we will have morning snack around 10:30 am. Campers must eat prior to arriving at camp or bring something simple to eat during morning check in/meeting time.

What does my child need to bring to camp?

A non-refrigerated lunch, a reusable water bottle, athletic or other shoes they can run, jump, and play in, clothes that you don’t mind getting dirty, a friendly attitude, and sunscreen for reapplying throughout the day. Please send your child with a backpack that they know is theirs to store their belongings. Refrigeration of food or medications can be provided where medically necessary as deemed by a physician. Campers are also welcome to bring a blanket, pillow, or stuffed animal for the rest/nap time immediately following lunch.

Will my child be able to visit the shop/Trading Post?

Starting in summer 2023 we will allot one afternoon time block (on Thursdays) for campers to visit the shop and purchase camp souvenirs. You can leave the money with the camper, a staff member at check in (place in an envelope with your camper’s name and the amount), or purchase credit through the online registration process. Sending $5 - $20 will be enough for your camper to get at least one (1) item.

I’m not comfortable sending money, how else can we buy camp souvenirs?

If you don't want to send money to camp or want to oversee your camper's shopping you can visit La Tienda (the council shop) with them during it's regularly scheduled hours. INSERT SHOP HOURS.

My camper needs a special accommodation, who do I contact?

Please send your request for accommodation with explanation to customercare@nmgirlscouts.org. The case will be assigned to the Camp Director who will only share with the required seasonal camp staff members.

What happens if I'm running late for drop off/pick up?

Please call 505-343-1040 immediately to let us know that you are running late and what your estimated time of arrival (ETA) is. We cannot hold campers past 5:45 pm but you can designate an alternate pick up adult. Just provide their information over the phone and we will copy the information to check on their government issued ID when they present it to pick up.

How will I be contacted in the case of an emergency?

Camp Staff will first call the phone number provided on your registration. Should we not receive an answer, a voicemail will be left. After trying initial contact information, the emergency contact on the Camper's Health Form will be contacted.

Programming

Do Leadership campers at Rancho have to stay the full four (4) weeks?

No, if your camper has other summer obligations related to clubs or school they are not required to stay the full four (4) weeks of training. If they are going home on a regular check out day their pick up time will be the same as other campers. If they need to be picked up any other day, their family will need to arrange transportation for them and communicate that at least one (1) week in advance to the camp via customercare@nmgirlscouts.org.

How many weeks does a Leadership Camper have to attend to be eligible for Week 5 for free?

Leadership campers must attend at least two (2) full sessions to be eligible to attend Week 5 for free.

Can the free registration to Week 5 be used for the horse camp (Trailblazers) option?

No, it can only be used to attend Camp U: Outdoor Skills.

Can Leadership campers use bus transportation?

Absolutely! As long as they are going home on scheduled bus days they are welcome to utilize bus transportation. This does need to be documented in their camp registration.

Can my camper request a buddy?

Yes, with limitations. Campers who want to attend a session with a friend (buddy) of a similar age/grade must register for the same camp session as their buddy. Campers must also indicate the buddy they would like to be with on the Registration Form.

COVID

Does my camper need a Covid test?

Following the CDC recommendation of testing for Covid before an indoor gathering, we are asking that every camper have a negative rapid antigen test within 24 hours of arrival at camp. If you are unable to test your camper at home before they depart for camp, we will have tests available at check-in. We are not requiring proof of a negative test, but are asking that you use “Scouts Honor” to help keep all campers and camp staff safe this summer.

If your camper tests positive for Covid, or has any symptoms of illness whatsoever, please keep them home. We will allow you to transfer to a later session at no charge.

What is the mask policy?

At this time in the state of New Mexico, wearing a mask is a personal choice that is respected by all Girl Scout staff. However, if anything changes with regards to a statewide mask mandate, we will immediately follow suit. Masks are listed as optional on the packing list. If you wish for your camper to wear a mask when you're not present please share that with the camp team during check in.

What happens if my child is sick before camp?

If your camper is showing ANY signs of sickness, do not bring them to camp. Once your camper is well we will happily transfer them to an upcoming camp session. Signs of sickness: upset stomach, fever, coughing/sneezing, muscle aches/pains, or loss of taste/smell.

What happens if my child gets sick at camp?

If a camper spikes a fever they will be isolated and tested for Covid. If it's a fever that lasts more than 2 hours or does not go down with medications (because dehydration can cause short term fevers) the camper will have to go home.

If your camper exhibits any other signs of illness, they will be tested for Covid. If the test is negative, they will be allowed to rejoin their group but required to wear an N95 mask until the symptoms subside. If symptoms persist, they will be given a 2nd Covid test the following day. If it is negative, they will (again) be allowed to rejoin their group but will need to wear a mask until their symptoms subside.

What happens if my camper tests positive?

If your camper tests positive (at home, at check in, during their week, anytime) they are not allowed at camp. If they are at camp we will isolate them and call home immediately. Due to limited space and staff, your camper must be picked up as soon as possible.

Are campers / staff required to be vaccinated (adults or youth)?

Girl Scouts of New Mexico Trails requires the same vaccines as all New Mexico Public Schools.

Will “quarantine” be required for staff or campers?

At this time, is not required that campers quarantine before attending camp. We are asking for all campers to have a negative rapid test within 24 hours of arriving at camp however.

What other NPIs (non-pharmacological interventions – nonmedicinal practices) will you be using?

We will still be implementing increased hand sanitizing (and lotion for those dried out hands) and increased and deeper cleaning procedures between groups with stronger cleaners.
